

Join our research study!

The Aging Swallow Research Lab from McMaster University is inviting older adults (60+) with progressive neurological disease to participate in a 10-week virtual exercise program to see how respiration and swallowing will improve as part of a research study.

If interested, please email macasrl@mcmaster.ca to learn more about the study and determine eligibility.